

Characteristics of Data Flow Diagram

Characteristics

- Information and/or data flow is represented by a labeled arrow
- Processes (transformations) are represented by labeled circles (bubbles)
- Information sources and sinks are represented by boxes
- Files and depositories are represented by a rounded rectangle or a double line.

