The statements read(a) and read(b) correspond to:

a := input1;

b := input2;

The subscripts are necessary to distinguish the two input data.

The statement output(x) corresponds to:

output := x